Header :A Gift of School Books

You may remember the Gift Foundation school at Lekki near Lagos in Nigeria. It is the chosen charity of leading dry cleaning equipment supplier, Renzacci UK plc. The school had informally set up on land acquired by Garment Care to construct their new factory. Through Garment Care's generosity, they set to and re-housed the children in purpose-built accommodation at their own cost. Garment Care and Renzacci UK have been supporting the school ever since thanks, in the main, to the kindness of friends in the UK.

We are glad to report that the school is going from strength to strength. The latest act of generosity comes from The Oxford University Press. Back in July last year Renzacci UK's Vanessa King wrote to them appealing for English text books. Despite this being just one of many good causes they are asked to support each year, the OUP generously donated some books. These were sent to Renzacci UK, who put them on the next available container of equipment headed for Nigeria. They arrived in the country late last month and our picture shows the children with their books.

If you feel you can help the school, with donations of stationery, books, art materials, toys or other school equipment, do please make contact with Vanessa King at Renzacci UK on 020 8579 2661, who will arrange for free collection from your premises.
