Leading distributor of dry cleaning and laundry equipment, Renzacci UK, has announced the appointment of Commercial Laundry Solutions from Newry in Northern Ireland as Master Distributor for its brand leading equipment in the Province.

With a cumulative 40 years' worth of experience in commercial and industrial laundry amongst its staff, CLS is well placed to develop the local market with such global brands as Renzacci, Pony and Hawo. CLS provides its customers with a comprehensive service that encompasses project design and management, equipment supply and ongoing customer service together with staff training and prompt technical service.

Says Managing Director of CLS, Paul Little: "We are proud to be appointed as Master Distributors in Northern Ireland. Renzacci UK's reputation for top quality, energy-efficient dry cleaning equipment goes before it. We are looking forward to further developing the brand in the Province, with all the commitment that entails to giving informed advice, friendly after sales care and prompt, efficient technical support."

Paul and his senior engineer, Aidan Dunbar, were given a thorough two day structured technical training in the products by Renzacci UK at its premises near Heathrow. Our picture shows Paul (left) with Aidan and the course certificates they were presented with having passed Renzacci UK's stringent course covering machinery operation, programming, servicing, commissioning and service support. Training is ongoing and a visit to Renzacci UK's factories in Italy is planned for later in 2010.

Speaking at the presentation, Renzacci UK's Managing Director, Jason Alexander, said "I am absolutely delighted to appoint Commercial Laundry Solutions as our authorised distributor in Northern Ireland. We had been searching for a while for a company that holds the same values we do - honesty, reliability, quality service and a positive "can do" attitude. In Paul Little's company, we feel we have found our
